ARTIST BIO

rienne is a queer alt-indie pop artist who was born and raised in Manila, Philippines but is currently residing in West Virginia, USA. rienne (21), who has been creating music since they were 13 years old credits their sound to artists such as Clairo, Beach Bunny, and The Lumineers and their lyricism to their personal experiences as a Gen Z who's part of the LGBTQ+ community while living with depression. Mixing these together, you get rienne's idyllic sound with candid lyrics that's light to the ears but sarcastically heavy to the heart.

In true Gen Z fashion, rienne is a self-taught artist who records and produces their songs using just their phone and laptop. By sliding into Off The Record's Instagram DMs last 2021, rienne was signed right away as their relentless optimism and unapologetic sense of self and humor transcended in both their music and personality. May it be through their music or charisma, rienne is a breath of fresh air in a world full of filters.

In 2022, "Sinagtala" and "Try Again" are included in the official soundtrack while "honey" was used as the trailer soundtrack of the series "Sleep with Me", which premiered in the 40th Outfest LA LGBTQ+ Film Festival.

REVIEWS

"Even though rienne has only been in the music industry for a few months, they are not afraid to be open and truthful in their music."

- Nylon Magazine

"When it comes to their music, rienne writes about what they know best: their personal experiences as part of the LGBTQ+ community as well as someone living with depression, meeting all of it with relentless optimism, an unapologetic sense of self, and humor that resonates with their growing audience."
